JVC Goes From Strength to Strength with its Award-Winning Home Cinema Projectors

JVC seems to outdo itself with each iteration of its D-ILA projection technology, with the latest chipset allowing for market-leading black levels and colour rendition. We found the £6,000 HD950 capable of offering truly astounding pictures, with a sense of depth not normally seen this of £10K. It also boasts a set of calibration controls so varied and intuitive that they'll keep tweekers and perfectionists amused (rather than bemused) for days. To see one is to want one!
